EFG Splice

When we design an office chair our philosophy is as simple as it is self-evident: combine the best possible functionality and the best possible ergonomics — without letting the price soar.

That goes for EFG Splice too.

EFG Splice is a user-friendly and visually exciting office chair that is great to sit on. It is also an unusually well-equipped chair, from the most basic model up. All models feature Donati's synchro action, for instance. Adjust the seat and backrest once and the chair will follow your every movement. The result is a chair that welcomes active sitting. That feeling is accentuated by the star base, tapered and gently ribbed for your feet, and the multifunctional armrest with arm supports that slide and pivot.

But don't just take our word for it. You are welcome to visit one of our showrooms to touch, look and sit.

EFG Splice with multifunctional armrests...

... or without if you prefer to use your desk for support.

The armrests are height adjustable, or multifunctional with arm supports that both pivot and slide.

The headrest is steplessly adjustable and available fully upholstered or with a back shell of black plastic.

The backrest is available in black plastic...

... or fully upholstered.

Even in its most basic model, EFG Splice is a full-fledged office chair. It features advanced synchro action, with simple control of the tilt function from a handy lever. For enhanced comfort you can opt for pneumatic back support and adjustable headrests. Or you can choose a sliding seat and extra seat height, or even multifunctional armrests.

The star base is available in black plastic or polished aluminium. Interval brake castors for hard floors are standard, but there are other alternatives, of course. There's a holder for your business card or name tag on the backrest and you can combine the headrest with a coat peg. Practical down to the smallest detail.

With all its various combinations, EFG Splice is a very flexible office chair. What's more, it's easy to control and adjust.
